JOHNSON-PROCTOR.

Wednesday, December 21st at 2 o'clock p. m., the most important social event of the season occurred at the First Baptist church when Miss Mattie, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Proctor, one of the most accomplished and popular young ladies of the city, and James M. Johnson, Jr., a promising young business man, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. Just preceding the arrival of the bridal party Miss Carolyn Rogers favored the waiting audience with a beautiful selection rendered in her usual charming manner. At the conclusion of this solo, Mrs. W. M. Medcalf rendered Lohengrin's wedding march.

First came the ushers, T. M. Boulware and W. V. Carson, then the groom's attendants, Messrs. D. M. Proctor and Knott Bailey, followed by the bridesmaids, Misses Ora McIlroy and Virgie Bristow. Then came the groom on the arm of his best man, Dr. W. T. Rutledge; after them came the bride on the arm of the maid of honor, Miss Bessie Finley. Standing under an immense bell of holly and mistletoe, the solemn ceremony was performed by Rev. J. H. Riffe, at the conclusion of which the party marched out to Mendelssohn's sweet strains.

The bride wore a handsome traveling gown of blue broadcloth, white satin yoke trimmed with applique chenille bow-knots, vest of burnt orange velvet, skirt cut demi-train; hat of navy blue velvet with guinea feathers; gloves to match. She carried brides roses. Miss Finley, of Independence, Mo., wore a suit of castor poplin, trimmed in jonquil satin, point lace, pompadour hat with ostrich tips. She carried white chrysanthemums. Miss Ora McIlroy, of Louisiana, Mo., wore a suit of wine colored covert cloth richly trimmed with white broadcloth and black applique; black pompadour hat. She carried yellow chrysanthemums. Miss Virgie Bristow wore a gray French cashmere, purple trimmings; hat to match, and carried pink chrysanthemums.

The groom wore a dark brown traveling suit.

The church was beautifully decorated with palms, holly, mistletoe and native cedar, which added greatly to the lovely scene.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnson left on the 2:51 p. m. train for a Southern tour.

The many beautiful and costly presents received by the bride further proves the high esteem in which she is held by her numerous friends. * *

Dear Santa Claus:—I want to tell you what I want for Xmas. I want a doll and a little trunk and doll bed and some candy and some oranges and peanuts. We are going to have a Xmas tree at our church, and Mamma says you will be there. I am so anxious to see you.

Yours truly,
KATIE BRUCE.
